

Personal Care Equipment useful for Camps

Portable Hoist:

A portable, battery operated hoist is a very useful piece of equipment for a camp.

The hoist can be used by caregivers to safely lift a person into a seated or lying position.

It can be easily assembled and transported, does not take up too much space and packs down to a smaller size for easy storage.

Most visitors requiring a hoist, will bring their own sling to be used with the hoist.

Portable hoists can also be used indoors and in certain outdoor situations. It is important to follow specific manufacturers specifications for use of equipment and ensure any staff that may use it to be familiar with the operation guidelines.
